

Economic Report on Africa
2002
TRACKING
PERFORMANCE
AND PROGRESS

Economic Commission for Africa

Ordering information

To order copies of Tracking Performance and Progress by the Economic Commission for Africa, please contact:

Publications
Economic Commission for Africa
P.O. Box 3001
Addis Ababa
Ethiopia
Tel: +251-1-44 31 68
Fax: +251-1-51 03 65
E-mail: ecainfo@uneca.org
Web: www.uneca.org

© Economic Commission for Africa, 2002
Addis Ababa
Ethiopia

All rights reserved
Manufactured in the United States of America
First printing June 2002

Material in this publication may be freely quoted or reprinted. Acknowledgement is requested, together with a copy of the publication.

Designed, edited, and produced by Bruce Ross-Larson, Meta de Coquereaumont, Wendy Guyette, Paul Holtz, Damon Iacovelli, Michael Molanphy, Jason Osder, Stephanie Rostron, and Alison Strong of Communications Development Incorporated, Washington, D.C.
Cover photographs provided by Cristoph & Friends and the World Bank Photo Archives.

Contents

Foreword ix

Acknowledgements xiii

Overview 1

1 Recent Economic Trends in Africa—and Prospects for 2002 13

- The global economy slowed in 2001 13
- Is a V-shaped recovery likely? 16
- Africa was the only developing region to see faster growth in 2001 17
- Changing commodity prices provide mixed blessings for Africa 18
- Tourism and remittances experienced steady growth 19
- African exports to the United States jumped 21
- Africa's emerging markets experienced a sharp increase in private capital flows 23
- Africa has seen a shift in foreign direct investment 26
- Aid to Africa remains low and volatile 28
- African economies grew faster than expected 31
- Economic policies have focused on boosting growth and reducing poverty 40
- The Expanded Economic Policy Stance Index 43
- Annex 48
- References 54

2 South Africa—Locomotive for African Growth? 55

- Recent economic developments—from currency crises to stabilization programme 56
- Agriculture—output sliding, exports up 58
- Industry—weak domestic demand 60
- Domestic consumption and investment—flat 61
- Monetary policy—M3 ahead of targets 66
- Exchange rate developments—rand under pressure 68
- External debt and foreign borrowing—interest payments remain low 69
- Trade policy and global developments—integrating with the world 70
- Human development—wide disparities between rich and poor 73
- Medium-term outlook and policy challenges—3% growth expected in 2002 77
- Note 78
- References 79

3 Ethiopia—Good Policies, Decent Outcomes 83

- Real sector developments—output, savings, investment, and prices 84
- Fiscal policy—budget deficit narrowing 89
- Monetary policy—interest rate controls eased 89

	The financial sector—opening	91
	Foreign trade and debt—new policies in place	92
	Poverty—deep in rural areas	99
	Health and education indicators—big improvements needed	101
	Institutional reforms—land tenure and governance	103
	Medium-term outlook—7% growth expected for 2002	106
	References	106
4	Zimbabwe—A Crumbling Economy	109
	Recent economic developments	110
	Agriculture—economic mainstay, but . . .	113
	Mining—foreign dominated	117
	Manufacturing—down to 14% of GDP	119
	Financial sector—captive to government	121
	Monetary policy—M3 up sharply	123
	Fiscal policy—under pressure	123
	External sector—trade liberalized	127
	Human development—deteriorating services	130
	Governance—corruption pervasive	133
	Medium-term outlook—gloomy	134
	Notes	134
	References	135
5	Kenya—Weak Governance Hobbles Economy	137
	Recent macroeconomic performance—real GDP up 1.8% in 2001	137
	Balance of payments and foreign debt—foreign exchange reserves up to 3.5 months of import cover	141
	Monetary policy and the financial sector	142
	Fiscal policy and domestic debt	145
	External policies—regional integration and tariffs	147
	Social sector developments	148
	Institutional reforms and governance	149
	Outlook for 2002—real GDP growth to rise to 2.5%	151
	References	151
6	Nigeria—Untapped Potential	153
	Recent trends and developments—promise and disappointment	154
	Macroeconomic performance 1999–2001—growth nearing 4%	155
	Policy reforms and economic performance	161
	Institutional and structural reforms	167
	Human development	173
	Medium-term outlook—2% growth projected for 2002	177
	Notes	182
	References	182

7	Morocco—Repositioning for Globalization	185
	Recent economic trends—solid improvements	187
	Sectoral performance—not much change	187
	Macroeconomic policies and their impacts	191
	Human development—big improvements	198
	Medium-term outlook and policy challenges—real GDP growth unlikely to exceed 3.5%	201
	References	205
8	Guinea—From a Command to a Market Economy	207
	Recent trends and developments—wide-ranging reforms	208
	Sectoral performance and policies	210
	External sector performance—current account deficit down to 1–2%	216
	Foreign debt—serious management difficulties	219
	Trade policy—rejoining the global economy	219
	Fiscal policy—diversifying the tax base	220
	Financial sector performance and monetary policy—inflation held to single digits	222
	Human development—reviewing the debate	225
	Medium-term outlook—policy coherence needed	227
	Notes	229
	References	229

Boxes

1.1	The economic effects of the September 11 terrorist attacks	15
1.2	Smooth transition to euro bodes well for CFA franc	19
1.3	The African Growth and Opportunity Act—a boost for exports, employment, and investment	23
1.4	Duty-free and quota-free access to U.S. markets for Sub-Saharan textile exporters	24
1.5	The Doha Development Round—key to African prosperity	34
1.6	The New Partnership for Africa’s Development—an African framework for faster growth and development	39
1.7	Is West Africa on track for a single currency by 2004?	41
1.8	Ghana—a winning combination of smooth democratic transition and sound economic management	43
1.9	Is South Africa’s falling rand a reflection of regional contagion—or irrational pessimism?	44
2.1	Adjusting to slowing world growth	57
2.2	Agricultural reforms—to correct historical injustices	59
2.3	Principles of the new industrial strategy	62
2.4	New inflation targets	67
2.5	The effect of depreciation on the economy	72
3.1	Ethiopia qualifies for debt relief under the enhanced HIPC initiative	98
6.1	Highlights of Nigeria’s 2002 budget	165
6.2	The dilemma of national economic management	171
6.3	Investors’ perceptions of the cost of doing business in Nigeri	180
6.4	The concerns of Nigerians	181

7.1	A privatization success story—Morocco’s telecommunications sector	192
7.2	Rising poverty and inequality in Morocco	202
8.1	Micro-finance in Guinea	224

Figures

1.1	Quarterly changes in real GDP, Group of Seven industrial countries, 1999 Q1–2001 Q2	14
1.2	World commodity prices, January 1998–September 2001	20
1.3	Top four African recipients of worker remittances, 1998 and 2001	21
1.4	Top 10 importers from Africa, 2000	22
1.5	U.S. imports from Africa, January 1999–October 2001	22
1.6	Top 10 exporters under the U.S. African Growth and Opportunity Act, January–September 2000 and 2001	24
1.7	Stock market performance, various African countries	26
1.8	Aid to Africa from all donors, 1960–1999	29
1.9	Average aid flows from members of the Development Assistance Committee, 1991–99	29
1.10	Aid per African from members of the Development Assistance Committee, 1999	30
1.11	Africa’s share of world crude oil and natural gas reserves, production, and exports, 1980 and 1999	35
1.12	Gross domestic savings, total investment, private investment, and public investment, Africa, 1990, 1995, and 1999	36
A1.1	Estimated GDP growth, African countries, 2001	48
A1.2	Estimated GDP growth by region, Africa, 2001	49
3.1	Changes in real GDP and agricultural output, Ethiopia, 1991/92–2000/01	85
3.2	Sectoral composition of GDP, Ethiopia, 1991/92–2000/01	85
3.3	Gross private, public, and total savings, Ethiopia, 1991/92–2000/01	86
3.4	Private, public, and total investment, Ethiopia, 1991/92–2000/01	87
3.5	Government revenue, spending, and deficit, Ethiopia, 1986/87–2000/01	90
3.6	Sources of financing for capital spending, Ethiopia, 1987/88–2000/01	90
3.7	Money supply, Ethiopia, 1986/87–2000/01	90
3.8	Real health spending per capita, Ethiopia, 1965/66–1999/2000	102
3.9	Real education spending per capita, Ethiopia, 1965/66–1999/2000	103
4.1	Agricultural land resettled, Zimbabwe, 1979/80–1995/96	115
4.2	Manufacturing production, Zimbabwe, 1990–2000	121
4.3	Monetary aggregates, Zimbabwe, 1995–2000	124
4.4	Inflation rate, Zimbabwe, January 1995–December 2000	124
4.5	Public spending on health and education, Zimbabwe, 1995–2001	127
4.6	Exchange rate of the Zimbabwe dollar against major currencies, 1995–2000	129
4.7	Criminal offences and attempted crimes, Zimbabwe, 1995–2000	131
6.1	Oil, non-oil, and total GDP growth, Nigeria, 1981–2000	158
6.2	Education and health spending as a share of the federal budget, Nigeria, 1990–2001	176
7.1	Change in real effective exchange rate and exports, Morocco, 1991–2000	188

Tables

1.1	Quarterly changes in real GDP, industrial countries, 2000 Q1–2001 Q4	14
1.2	External financing of Africa’s emerging markets, 1998–2002	25
1.3	Foreign direct investment outflows, selected African countries, 1990–94 and 1995–99	27

1.4	Cumulative foreign direct investment in Uganda by industry, 1991–98	28
1.5	Distribution of GDP growth rates, Africa, 1999–2002	31
1.6	Macroeconomic indicators, Africa, 1998–2001	32
1.7	GDP growth in Africa by region, 1998–2002	32
1.8	Distribution of inflation rates, Africa, 1999 and 2000	36
1.9	Balance of payments, Africa, 1997–2001	38
1.10	Expanded Economic Policy Stance Index, country scores and clusters, 2001	45
A1.1	GDP growth by economic group, Africa, 2001–02	49
A1.2	Distribution of GDP by sector, Africa, 1980 and 2000	50
A1.3	Annual inflation, Africa, 1995–2000	52
2.1	Components of GDP, South Africa, 1995–2000	63
2.2	Government revenue, South Africa, 1995–2000	65
2.3	Government expenditure, South Africa, 1995–2000	65
2.4	Balance of payments, South Africa, 1995–2000	71
2.5	Government spending on social services, South Africa, 1995/96–2000/01	76
3.1	Changes in real GDP and sectoral output, Ethiopia, 1995/96–2000/01	85
3.2	Domestic and foreign direct investment, Ethiopia, 1995/96–1999/2000	87
3.3	Number and investment capital of projects, Ethiopia, July 1992–July 2001	87
3.4	Inflation and exchange rates, Ethiopia, 1995/96–2000/01	88
3.5	Balance of payments, Ethiopia, 1991/92–2000/01	93
3.6	Share of major exports in export earnings, Ethiopia, 1992/93–1999/2000	93
3.7	Exports and imports relative to GDP and each other, Ethiopia, 1995/96–2001/2002	93
3.8	Annual changes in the volume of total and selected exports, Ethiopia, 1991/92–1999/2000	95
3.9	Exports by destination, Ethiopia, various years	95
3.10	Selected imports by end use, Ethiopia, 1991/92–1998/99	96
3.11	Terms of trade index, Ethiopia, 1970–97	96
3.12	Debt indicators, Ethiopia, 1985–99	97
3.13	Poverty measures, Ethiopia, 1995/96	100
3.14	Poverty, measured by region, Ethiopia, 1995/96	100
3.15	Estimates of poverty, Ethiopia, 1994 and 1997	100
3.16	Gini coefficients, 1994 and 1997, and elasticity of headcount index relative to mean real spending and Gini coefficient, Ethiopia, 1997	101
3.17	Adult and infant mortality rates, life expectancies, and HIV prevalence, Ethiopia, selected years, 1960–2000	102
3.18	Gross enrolment ratios by education level, Ethiopia, selected years, 1980–97	102
4.1	Nominal GDP and real GDP growth, Zimbabwe, 1995–2001	112
4.2	Estimated GDP growth by sector, Zimbabwe, 2000 and 2001	112
4.3	Savings and investment as a share of GDP, Zimbabwe, 1995–2001	112
4.4	Agricultural production, Zimbabwe, 1999/2000 and 2000/01	117
4.5	Budget deficit and revenue as a share of GDP, Zimbabwe, 1995–2001	126
4.6	Estimated government expenditures, Zimbabwe, 2000 and 2001	126
4.7	External and domestic debt, Zimbabwe, 1995–2000	127
4.8	Trade liberalization policies and reversals, Zimbabwe	130
5.1	Changes in real GDP and sectoral output, Kenya, 1996–2001	138
5.2	Major agricultural products, Kenya, 1996–2000	139

5.3	Nonperforming loans and loan loss provisions, Kenya, June 2000 and July 2001	144
5.4	Various measures of poverty in rural and urban areas, Kenya, 1997	149
5.5	School enrolments and life expectancy, Kenya, 1995–2000	149
6.1	Nigeria in a global context, 1999	156
6.2	Selected economic indicators, Nigeria, 1996–2002	157
6.3	Growth rates and contributions to GDP growth by sector, Nigeria, 1997–2000	159
6.4	External debt, Nigeria, selected years, 1980–2002	160
6.5	Monetary, financial, and other targets and outcomes, Nigeria, 1999 and 2000	166
6.6	Maternal mortality ratio in selected Sub-Saharan African countries, 1980–99	176
6.7	Average household income, Nigeria, 1992 and 1997	177
6.8	Major economic and social targets for 2003, Nigeria	178
7.1	Selected macroeconomic indicators, Morocco, 1999–2001	188
7.2	Distribution of GDP by sector, Morocco, 1998–2000	188
7.3	Agricultural production, Morocco, 1996/97–1999/2000	189
7.4	Public finances, Morocco, 1998/99–2001	193
7.5	Monetary trends, Morocco, 1999–2001	195
7.6	External sector performance, Morocco, 1999–2001	198
7.7	Exchange rates, Morocco, 1997–2001	198
7.8	Medium-term outlook, Morocco, 2002–03	203
8.1	Growth in GDP and consumption, Guinea, 1995–2001	210
8.2	Investment and savings, Guinea, 1995–2001	210
8.3	Trade in goods, Guinea, 1999	217
8.4	Balance of payments, Guinea, 1995–2001	218
8.5	Main training partners, Guinea, 2000	218
8.6	External debt, Guinea, 1995–2001	219
8.7	Central government finances, Guinea, 1999	221
8.8	Commercial banks, Guinea, 1998	223

Data notes

Wherever possible, the report shows fiscal data for the calendar year. Where data for the calendar year are not available, however, fiscal year data are used.

Two years separated by a dash (2000–01) indicate a range of calendar years, while two years separated by a slash (2000/01) indicate a fiscal year or, in the context of agriculture, an agricultural year.

Dollar figures are in current U.S. dollars unless otherwise specified. Billion means 1,000 million.