Executive Summary

The secretariat is pleased to submit to the Conference, the proposed programme of work and priorities for the biennium 2006-2007. It is based on the Strategic Framework approved by the Conference of African Ministers of Finance, Planning and Economic Development at their meeting held in Kampala, Uganda in May 2004.

The overall objective of the programme of work is to enhance the capacity of African member States and their development partners to formulate and implement appropriate policies and programmes for accelerated and sustained growth for poverty reduction. These should be in line with the goals and priorities of the New Partnership for Africa’s Development (NEPAD) and the internationally agreed development goals, including those contained in the United Nations Millennium Declaration and in the outcomes of the major United Nations conferences and international agreements since 1992.

In preparing the programme of work, the ECA reviewed a large number of intergovernmental reports for the period 2001 – 2004. The reports included those of the Conference of African Ministers of Finance, Planning and Economic Development, the Committee of Experts of the Conference of Ministers, the Inter-governmental Committees of Experts of the Subregional Offices and the six Sectoral Technical Committees as well as from the African Union and major UN conferences. From the review, key issues and recommendations, were identified and translated into work areas for the divisions and Subregional Offices (SROs) of the ECA.

Furthermore, the programme of work was developed pursuant to the recommendations of the ECA Conference of Ministers following its consideration of the report of a comprehensive external review of ECA’s work since 1996 which was undertaken in 2004. The Commission considered the report in May 2004 in Kampala and recommended a number of areas for improvement including the involvement of member States in priority setting; improving knowledge sharing and outreach activities; improving partnerships with research and academic institutions; and strengthening feedback and dissemination mechanisms of ECA work.

In compliance with these recommendations, the secretariat organized a special ad hoc expert group meeting, comprising selected members of ECA’s policy-making organs and the sectoral technical committees. The meeting reviewed the proposed work programme of ECA for the biennium 2006-2007, and advised on its alignment to the needs of the continent. These actions were also in line with the General Assembly recommendations to involve the intergovernmental bodies of the UN in its work and to follow-up on recommendations made by these bodies.

The 2005 Conference of Ministers is invited to consider and endorse the proposed biennial programme plan for the following subprogrammes: Facilitating economic and social policy analysis; Fostering sustainable development; Strengthening development management; Harnessing information for development; Promoting trade and regional integration; Promoting the advancement of women; Supporting subregional activities for development and; Development planning and administration; and provide its comments to the Secretary-General. The proposed biennial programme of work and priorities, together with the summary of the observations and amendments by the ECA Conference of Ministers, will be submitted to the Advisory Committee on Administrative and Budgetary Questions (ACABQ) in June 2005 when it considers the Secretary-General’s proposed programme budget for the biennium 2006-2007 of the whole United Nations Secretariat.
A. Overview

A.1 The programme of work described below is based on programme 14, Economic and social development in Africa, of the Strategic Framework for the period 2006-2007 (A/59/6/Rev.1), adopted by General Assembly resolution 59/275 of 23 December 2004. This programme is under the responsibility of the Economic Commission for Africa (ECA).

A.2 The overall objective of the programme is to assist African countries and their development organizations to formulate and implement appropriate policies and programmes for accelerated and sustained growth for poverty reduction, in line with the goals and priorities of the New Partnership for Africa’s Development (NEPAD) and the internationally agreed development goals, including those contained in the Millennium Declaration and in the outcomes of the major United Nations conferences and international agreements since 1992.

A.3 The objective of the programme will be achieved through the implementation of activities in eight interdependent and complementary subprogrammes, which broadly reflect the development priorities of the region. The modalities for implementation will include research, advocacy and awareness-raising; policy analysis; organization of policy debates to facilitate consensus-building and adoption of common regional positions on key issues; and the provision of technical assistance in the form of policy advice, group training programmes, and field projects to disseminate best practices for wider replication in the region.

A.4 While many of the activities and outputs described in this programme of work reflect continuity in the direction of the work carried out by ECA in the previous biennium, a number of areas will receive greater attention and emphasis in the 2006-2007 biennium. Key among these are statistics, addressing the issue of HIV/AIDS, transport and communications infrastructure development, and gender mainstreaming. The work on statistics will be reoriented to focus on poverty-related statistics and indicators for tracking and reporting progress on the Millennium Development Goals (MDGs) in Africa as well as towards further strengthening of the coordination of statistical programmes in the region. Similarly, the programme will place renewed emphasis on addressing the special needs of the least developed, landlocked and other geographically disadvantaged countries.

A.5 Emphasis will also be given to social development issues in the work under subprogramme 1, Facilitating economic and social policy analysis with particular focus on increasing awareness of member States on the need to pay more attention to emerging social issues in national policy formulation and implementation. In this context, ECA’s work in the area of HIV/AIDS will continue to focus on examining the development implications of the epidemic in Africa and help in promoting appropriate policy responses in its prevention and treatment.
A.6 With regard to gender mainstreaming, ECA will continue to support its member States in ensuring that their development policies and programmes reflect a gender dimension. Specifically, ECA will track the advancement of women in Africa’s development performance through operationalizing tools it has developed, such as the African Gender Development Index and the Gender Aware macroeconomic model.

A.7 During the biennium 2006-2007, continued emphasis will be given to deepening ECA’s partnership agenda through special initiatives such as the African Development Forum, the African Learning Group on Poverty Reduction Strategies, the joint ECA/OECD work on Mutual Review of Development Effectiveness, the Big Table high-level dialogue among ministers of finance from selected African countries with their OECD counterparts on key development initiatives and promises for Africa and through ECA’s active contribution to the work of the Strategic Partnership with Africa (SPA) on improving the quality of assistance to Africa. ECA will continue to work closely with other institutions at the regional and subregional levels on issues of common concern to the member States. ECA will also strengthen its cooperation with partners in the private sector, civil society, research institutions, and with bilateral and multilateral donors in support of Africa’s development objectives.

A.8 As a result of the comprehensive internal review undertaken in formulating the proposed programme of work for the biennium 2006-2007, the number of outputs for substantive divisions will be reduced by 72 or 14 per cent, from a total of 499 in the 2004-2005 biennium to 427 in 2006-2007. This reduction, which is aimed at concentrating limited resources on key outputs, will also lead to the creation of more synergies in the work programme, particularly between the ECA headquarters and the subregional offices through the establishment of task-oriented intra- and interdivisional work teams based on a clear division of labour that emphasizes the complementarities in the work programme.

A.9 The programme’s main expected accomplishments and indicators of achievement for the biennium 2006-2007 are detailed under the programme of work. The overall framework of these expected accomplishments and indicators of achievement is shown in the following table.
