Tourism is now an important economic sector for a number of countries in the sub-region in terms of its GDP contribution, a leading foreign exchange earner, and a major source of employment. The region still harbours enormous potential that is largely untapped. This is attributable mainly to the general lack of competitiveness in the sector. This session will provide an overview of the key competitiveness-related issues and discuss potential remedial policies.

14:00 – 16:00 Banking on Success? Leveraging the Banking Sector Better for Accelerated Structural Transformation

One of the major limiting factors for growth and structural transformation in the sub-region has been the lack of finance. Mainstream debates tend to focus almost exclusively on the issue of 'financial inclusion', at the expense of considering more deeply why the banking sector in Eastern Africa has not been more effective. The banking sector across the region has not been playing its role in terms of providing sufficient credit to the private sector and strategic industries. This session will discuss how the banking sector can be more closely aligned to national objectives of development and structural transformation. It will count on various experts to inform the discussions, and will look in particular at a number of case studies from the region (Kenya, Ethiopia), as well as drawing on international experience.

16:15 - 18:00 Parallel Breakout Sessions

Parallel Session I: Exchange Rate Regimes: Options and Policy Implications

In the context of large balance of payments’ deficits, regional economies suffer from an acute vulnerability to exchange rate fluctuations. Countries across the region have approached this challenge in different ways - some have adopted pegged exchange rates, others floating, and still others have opted for intermediate arrangements. This parallel session will discuss the macroeconomic consequences of different exchange rate regimes and how countries have coped with these challenges. Particular attention will be paid to plans in the East African Community (EAC) to establish a monetary union by 2024.

Presentations by:
- Prof. Thomas Kigabo, Chief Economist, National Bank of Rwanda
- Mr. Pedro Martins, Economic Affairs Officer, ECA

Parallel Session II: Catalysing Private Sector Development in Eastern Africa

One of the common characteristics of regional economies is the relative weakness of the private sector. In some senses, this is paradoxical – survey evidence suggests that East Africans are highly entrepreneurial. This session will explore this apparent paradox and discuss policies and measures that can be implemented to catalyse the private sector. Using information from business surveys, the session will identify the areas where reform would have the most impact.

- Mr. Rodgers Mukwaya, Economic Affairs Officer, ECA in Eastern Africa
